

Probate

The legal realities of a complex society are seldom more evident than when a loved one passes from our lives.

Don't let the legal process discourage you. While you should act as soon as possible, probate is generally a straight forward legal process. It takes time, but handled correctly most probate is relatively uncomplicated and trouble-free.

Greg helps families all over Utah

Greg Hawkins is the senior partner at Hawkins & Sorensen, LC. Greg has been practising law for 20 years and focuses on those issues that affect families most.

Now, your family can have its own lawyer who is experienced, affordable & responsive.

When your family faces the consuming frustration of trying to deal with the legal system in a time of sorrow, competent counsel can help to ensure a smooth passage.

For nearly 20 years I have concentrated much of my legal practice helping families to prepare for the unavoidable prospect of death and dying.

You can rely on Greg to put your family first.

Until it happens, no one knows how they will react to the passing of a loved one. Legal details should be the least of your concerns.

Last year, a close family friend called to inform me of her Mother's death. She passed unprepared legally and probate was required to sell her property.

I assured her that I would handle the legal arrangements. In the end, we filed probate actions in two states and finalized the estate in a few short months.

When you need help, please call me.
